"The Culture of Excess"

Special Guest :: Dr. Jay Slosar

Psychologist and the Author of The Culture of Excess: How We've Lost Self-Control and Why We Need to Redefine Success

Jay Slosar

America is suffering from unrealistic and unlimited expectations of how we should each be living a rich life. Allen and Jay discuss the potential disaster ahead by overindulging and over-praising our children and that we're raising a generation that lacks self control and who will continue our cycle of cultural excess.

Though the financial collapse of Wall Street exposed a nation living beyond its means, we must come away understanding the psychological factors that

Though the financial collapse of Wall Street exposed a nation living beyond its means, we must come away understanding the psychological factors that underlie our lifestyle and to take steps to prepare our children and ourselves for the future.

ABOUT "ANSWERS for the FAMILY"

"Answers for the Family" was born out of a desire to help guide parents and adolescent services industry professionals alike to professional resources as they face critical moments with their children and/or clients. The show addresses issues such as: locating your runaway teen, family crisis intervention, building self esteem, dealing with addictions, international parental abduction and the many of the "everyday" concerns of parent. We will also introduce you to specialized schools and treatment programs that can really help.

Listen to your host, Allen Cardoza and his many "Answers for the Family" guests Mondays at 11:00AM (PST) discuss ways to help you navigate through the many challenges of family life.

Here is how you do it: Go to www.latakradio.com to listen live. If you miss any show, you can go to our website and listen to the podcast at: www.answers4thefamily.com.
